NLRB HOUSTON, TX RESIDENT OFFICE
REMAINS CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC

National Labor Relations Board General Counsel Ronald Meisburg announced today that the Board's Houston, Texas Resident Office (Region 16) remains closed to the general public, as the Mickey Leland Federal Office Building, in which the Resident Office is located, continues to undergo remediation of damage resulting from Hurricane Ike.

The staff of the Houston Office and its "parent" office in Fort Worth will continue to work with parties with respect to the status of hearings or elections or other matters that are scheduled for the remainder of this week.
